PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

The Stalwart Champion of Democracy Carries Everything Before Him.

All the Doubtful States Go Democratic, Even Harrison's Own Indiana.

Splendid Victories in the Solid South and in New York City and State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Herald announced that at midnight it would display a red light if Cleveland gained the day. Promptly at that hour the light appeared, and 10,000 people in front of the building howled and danced for joy. The Tribune at the same time displayed a bulletin conceding a safe majority of the electoral college for Cleveland. From the best information obtainable Cleveland has received 250 electoral votes, Harrison 148, Weaver 7, doubtful 49.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Sun says that "The elections throughout the Union yesterday resulted in sweeping Democratic victories. Mr. Cleveland was elected President and a Democratic House of Representatives was chosen. Some of the states which heretofore have been solidly for the Republican administration have given substantial Democratic victories."

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Advertiser (Republican paper) says: It looks like Harrison 220, Cleveland 214, Weaver 10; necessary to a choice, 223. Uncertainty as to the general result of the presidential election prevailed at both national headquarters last night. At midnight the situation had not cleared up. It was freely prophesied by astute politicians on both sides that the Weaver electors would hold the balance of power, and would have the option of voting in favor of one of the candidates of the two great parties or throwing the election into the house, in which case Mr. Cleveland would be elected.

How Maine Went.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 9.—Up to midnight the returns show that the state gives Harrison a plurality of about 14,000, against the Republican plurality of 12,521 at the September election for governor, and a plurality of 23,258 for Harrison in 1888. There is a falling off of the vote of both parties. One hundred and seventy-seven towns in Maine give Harrison 42,089, Cleveland 31,465, scattering 3034. The same towns in 1888 gave Harrison 48,347, Cleveland 42,069, scattering 2079. The Republican plurality then was 16,287.

New Hampshire Solidly Republican.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 9.—This state was carried by Harrison was claimed by the Republicans and conceded by the Democrats by something like two thousand. There is no election of governor by the people. The legislature is Republican by a large majority. Returns from 85 towns and wards give Harrison 13,025; Cleveland 11942; Bidwell 416, scattering 82. The same towns in '88 gave Harrison 13,067; Cleveland 12,265; scattering 537.

Rhode Island for Harrison.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 9.—Harrison has surely got Rhode Island by 2501 plurality. The total vote of 54,758 was the largest ever polled in the state, and is divided as follows: Harrison 27,600. Cleveland 25,099, Weaver 304, Bidwell 177. There was no election in either of the congressional districts, but the Republicans lead in both. Providence gives Cleveland 10,232, Harrison 9929. Newport gives Harrison a plurality of 23.

Connecticut was Mixed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.,—Complete returns from the state give Cleveland 3320 plurality and Morris (Democrat) for governor 1469 majority. Returns for congress show first district, Sperry, (Democrat) re-elected by about 400. This is the first time the district has gone Democratic in a presidental election for 30 years; second district, Pigott (Democrat) about one thousand; third district, Russell (Republican) re-elected. The result for the legislature is as follows: Senate, Democrats, 13, Republicans, 11. The House is Republican by 15, giving a Republican majority on a joint ballot.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9—Complete returns from the state gathered by the Southern N. E. Telephone, give Cleveland 5330 plurality, and Morey Democrat candidate for Governor, 1469 majority.

Massachusetts Goes Republican.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 9.—Returns from 265 cities and towns, including Boston, give Harrison 122,788, Cleveland 112,475, Bidwell 4,467. Harrison's plurality is 10,318. The same towns in 1888 gave Cleveland 98,776, Harrison 111,943; Harrison's plurality 13,167. The same towns this year gave for governor, Hamlin 4,579, Haile 114,086, Russell 119,188. Russell leads by 5,102. The same towns in 1888 gave Allan 93,429, Russell 102,518; Russell leads by 9,189. The net Democratic loss is 4,087, not including Boston. These towns give for Lieut.-Governor Carroll 66,070, Wolcott 75,388. Wolcott's plurality is 9,318.

California Claimed for Both.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—According to returns counted in this city thus far, Cleveland will have a plurality of about seven thousand. Returns are too meagre to say with positiveness which electoral ticket has carried the state, but indications are that Cleveland's plurality in this city will be overcome by Harrison's plurality in other parts of the state, and that the latter will probably carry the state by a plurality considerably less than four years ago. The Weaver vote was somewhat larger than estimated by managers of both political parties, and cut into the Republicans in some counties much heavier than it did into Democratic strength.

The legislature is still in doubt, but will probably be Republican on a joint ballot. The Democrats will in all probability carry four of the congressional districts, the first, second, fourth and sixth, the Republicans the remaining three, although the vote is close in the seventh district, with chances in favor of the Republican candidate. At 11 o'clock this morning Chairman Popper of the Democratic state committee, claimed California for Cleveland by 8,000 plurality. He also claimed the legislature for the Democrats and the election of four and possibly six congressmen. Chairman Meyers, Republican State Committee, conceded neither state nor legislature to the Democrats.

Nothing Definite Before To-morrow.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 9.—Under the new Australian ballot law nothing definite will be known of the elections before to-morrow. Absolutely no returns have been received here for either state or country.

Washington Possibly Republican.

SEATTLE, Nov. 9.—Estimates based on unofficial records indicate that Harrison has carried the state by a plurality that will not fall far short of 4000, and that McGraw, Republican for Governor, will have a plurality of over 3000. There is no doubt that both Republican congressmen are elected. The returns as regards the legislature are exceedingly meagre, but from the general indications the Republicans have every reason to expect a good working majority in both houses.

Pennsylvania For Harrison.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 9.—The Press claims a majority of 70,000 in Pennsylvania for Harrison and the election of 21 Republican Congressmen out of 30.

The Battle in Nevada.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 9—It is conceded by all parties that Weaver carries Nevada by 1500. The Newlands silver party is elected to Congress. The result for the Legislature is not yet certain, but it is generally believed the silver party have the majority.

King's County.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—King's county complete, with seven wards in Brooklyn, is estimated to give Cleveland a plurality of 29,474.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—The city returns complete give Cleveland 175,885, Harrison 98,760. Cleveland majority, 86,125.

Harrison's Own State Swamped.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—Returns are coming in slowly. Marion county has probably gone Democratic. The Democratic committee claim the county by 1300 by the number re-elected to congress in the Seventh district at 7 a.m.; both parties are claiming the state, with the chances favoring the Democrats.

Wisconsin Solid for Cleveland.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 9.—Wisconsin is certainly Democratic and all for Cleveland and Peck by from 10,000 to 15,000. The Republicans conceded the state legislature, which will return a Democratic senator in place of Sawyer. The minority of the congressmen are Democrats. An extra of the Journal issued at 9 o'clock contains the following:

"MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—Hon. Grover Cleveland, New York—Wisconsin assures you her 12 electoral votes, and congratulates you and the country on the magnificent victory. (Signed)

It was after three o'clock this morning that Chairman Wall of the Democratic state committee sent the foregoing dispach. At that hour all doubt that Wisconsin was Democratic had been removed. Reports from one quarter state that Cleveland and Peck (governor) had carried the state by a plurality of from 10,000 to 15,000. Both branches of the legislature are Democratic; and a majority of the congressional delegation.

A Great Sweep.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Sun's 6 a.m. extra says: "Returns received at the Sun office up to this hour shows that Mr. Cleveland carried the solid South, and of the so-called doubtful states he has carried Connecticut by 4000. New York state by 44,000, New Jersey by 8000, Delaware by more than 10,000, Indiana by about 5000, Illinois by 10,000, Wisconsin by 10,000; while Weaver has drawn from General Harrison's vote of 1888 by carrying the states of Colorado, Idaho, Nevada and Nebraska and probably South Dakota. The electorrl college will probably stand: Cleveland 269, Harrison 151, and Weaver 22. The vote in Minnesota has not been fully returned yet. The chairman of the Democratic State Committee is claiming the election of four fusion electors. In Michigan seven Cleveland and five Harrison electors apparently have been elected. A 4 a.m. dispatch from Boston states that Gov. Russell's vote increases as the returns for the missing towns and cities are received, and it is quite likely that he is elected. The legislature of the state of New York is Democratic, the House having been carried by a majority of fourteen, thus ensuring the election of a Democratic senator in place of Hiscock. The new House of Representatives will have a Democratic majority of more than 100. The new party nominees in the South have been defeated generally, but they hold their own in Kansas, Nebraska and other Western states.

Massachusetts Congressmen.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Returns from the congressional districts indicate the election of four congressmen by the Republicans. General Draper defeated Geo. F. Williams in the 11th district, Gillette in the 2nd, Walker in the 3rd, Cogswell in the 6th, Lodge in the 7th, Morse in the 12th and Randall in the 13th. All Republicans are elected. In the 10th McEttick, Democrat, is elected, and in the 4th Amply, Republican, is thought to have defeated Coolidge. Crosby, Democrat, and Stevens, Democrat, are probably elected. Both McCall and Andres claim a majority, with the chances apparently in favor of McCall, Republican.

California Still Doubtful.

NEW YORK Nov. 9.—Wertz, Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey is elected by about 4000. It is possible that California has voted for the Cleveland electors. The chairman of the Republican state committee concedes that the city of San Francisco has gone Democratic by 7000 majority, and there are gains enough outside the city to indicate that the state is Democratic.

Illinois Settled It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—The President gave up the election when he heard from Illinois, last night, remarking "If Illinois has gone Democratic that settles it;" and he requested that no further returns be sent to him.

He said there was no truth in the rumor that Treasurer Hall would endeavor to negotiate a new provincial loan while in Europe, although he might confer with capitalists while there.

Mercier To Lead.

QUEBEC, Nov. 9.—Mercier's friends claims that after the enthusiastic manner in which his acquittal has been received by the public, both here and in Montreal, his re habilitation is only a question of time. It is now said he is about to pose as a leader in the movement for the annexation of Canada to the United States. He has long been an ardent admirer of United States institutions, and has publicly stated that God never made nor intended a dividing line between the two countries. Mercier has announced his intention of taking his seat at the next session of the legislature. He says he will serve under Hon. Mr. Marchand, who has his utmost confidence.

ON ANARCHY'S RED ALTAR.

The Infernal Machine Explosion in Paris Worse Than First Reported.

Six Men Blown to Shreds and the Building Wrecked by the Deadly Dynamite.

Universal Suffrage Demonstration in Brussels Followed by a Serious Riot.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The number of persons killed by the explosion of dynamite at the police station here this morning was larger than at first supposed. The bomb, it appears, was discovered by the cashier of the Carmaux Company, who noticed it lying in the entresol of the building. The instrument was of spherical shape, and a handle was attached to it. The cashier called a policeman, who, with the company's porter, took the bomb to the station. The clockwork movement in the interior of the infernal machine struck while the four men who were killed were standing over and examining it. The havoc caused was terrible. Six in all were killed. The victims were, police clerks Pousset and Vagard, who were looking on while the machine was being examined. Assistant Superintendent Farmorin, who was called in to see the machine opened; police inspectors Fronto and Reaux, and an employee of the Carmaux Company, named Gazin. Several of these were torn to pieces by the explosion and the walls of the station house were splattered with blood. Gazin, the Carmaux Company's employee, who was close to the machine when it exploded, was blown to shreds. A piece of his head was found in the debris outside the window. Pousset was horribly mutilated, and one of his legs was torn off at the thigh, and he was disembowelled. The station house floor was covered with blood, which flowed out through the gaping holes made by the dynamite. Houses in the neighborhood were shaken to their foundations. There is no doubt in the minds of the police that the object of putting the machine where it was found was to destroy the lives of the Carmaux Company's officers.

A police commissary states that the disastrous explosion last evening was caused by an officer turning the supposed stewpan upside down to examine it. He thus started the clock work of the infernal machine. The station which was wrecked was in the heart of the city close to the Louvre, the Bank of Paris and the general postoffice.

THE BRIGGS HERESY.

The Famous Trial Commenced To-Day—Statement of Case.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The trial of Prof. Charles A. Briggs, of Union Theological Seminary, on the famous charge of heresy, commenced this afternoon before the New York Presbytery, sitting in the main audience room of the South Presbyterian church. It will be a memorable trial, and one which is likely to leave its imprint for many generations to come upon the doctrinal polity of this great denomination. The great amount of public interest manifested in the forthcoming proceedings is evidenced by the fact that although the trial was not to formally commence until 2 o'clock a crowd began to assemble at the main audience door of the sacred edifice long before noon, and upon the doors being opened the space allotted to the general public was very quickly filled to overflowing. The trial is to continue daily except Saturdays and Sundays until it is finished. The present status of the case is this: The general assembly, which met in Portland, Oregon, last May, refused to accept the Presbytary's dismissal of the charges against the professor, and ordered the Presbytery to proceed with the trial. At the October meeting of the body the judgment of the general assembly was submitted, and the committee on prosecution announced that it was ready to proceed to trial. Thereupon it was decided that the proceedings should commence to-day and continue until a verdict had been reached. The prosecuting committee comprises Rev. Drs. R. F. Sample of the Westminster church, J. J. Lampe of Christ Church, Dr. G. W. F. Birch, Prof. J. J. Stevenson, Col. John J. McCook, and these will have the assistance in consultation from Dr. W. T. G. Shedd, the Emeritus Professor in the Seminary; Dr. George L. Shearer of the American Tract Society, and Dr. C. L. Robinson, the latter having been for over a generation a prominent Presbyterian pastor in this city. Prof. Briggs will act as his own counsel. The charges against him contain two separate allegations:—(1) "With teaching doctrines which conflict irreconcilably with and are contrary to the cardinal doctrine taught in the holy Scriptures and contained in the standards of the Presbyterian church, that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are the only infallible rule of faith and practice." (2) "With teaching a doctrine of the character, state and sanctification of believers after death which irreconcilably conflicts with and is contrary to the holy Scriptures and the standards of the Presbyterian church."

FIFTY-TWO TO-DAY.

The Prince of Wales' Birthday—Congratulations and Presents Received.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Flags are flying and church bells all over the country are pealing melody to-day, a loyal recognition of the birthday of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. It was early on the morning of November 9, 1841, that the booming of cannon announced to the people of London that a son and heir had been born to Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort, and hence the heir apparent to the throne and the future King of England,—the latter contingency of course being based upon his surviving his venerable mother—reaches to-day his fifty-second year. Owing to the fact that the royal family is still in mourning for the death of the Duke of Clarence, the festivities which have marked each successive birthday of the Prince for the past decade are on this occasion abandoned. All through the morning, however, the telegraph wires to Sandringham, where the Prince and Princess with their children, the Princesses Victoria and Maude of Wales, are at present domiciled, have been loaded with messages of congratulation. One of the first to arrive was from the Queen, who is paying her usual autumnal visit to Balmoral. It was an expression of the love and affection that the venerable sovereign holds for her eldest son. The local offices of the express company were also kept busy during the morning in receiving and checking the gifts received from different parts of the United Kingdom and the continent, and up to 2 o'clock no less than three wagons full had been delivered at Sandringham House. One of the most valuable came from the Emperor William of Germany. Congratulations couched in warm language came from Mr. Gladstone and the Earl of Salisbury, respectively premier and ex-premier. There were also messages breathing good-will and many happy returns of the day from the corporation of the city of London, and the municipal bodies of Manchester, Bristol and other cities. The borough officials of Sandringham had proposed to wait upon the Prince, and present a loyal address, but the intention was abandoned at an intimation from Col. Knollys, private secretary to his Royal Highness, to the effect that while the Prince appreciated the loyalty of his neighbors, he would prefer, in view of his recent overwhelming bereavement, that the visit should be postponed until the period of mourning had passed. To-night there will be a private dinner party at Sandringham House, and at which the birthday gifts will be displayed to a few intimate friends of the Prince and Princess. There will, however, be numerous balls and banquets, public and private, in different parts of the country in celebration of the anniversary. Dispatches from Ireland say there are many outward tokens of recognition in the principal towns, a dispatch which is regarded as an augury of better feeling, especially in view of the fact that throughout Salisbury's administration, the day was allowed to pass year after year without the slightest token of recognition beyond the hoisting of the Union Jack over Dublin Castle, and the usual dinner tendered by the viceroy to his staff. In accordance with the custom that he inaugurated several years ago, the Prince of Wales will have a little celebration on his own account by swelling the coffers of several London hospitals and other charities through the medium of checks for substantial amounts.

Smallpox in Tacoma.

TACOMA, Nov. 8.—This city has smallpox sure enough. The first case was discovered Saturday morning in a lodging house, the victim being John Coffie. The matter was kept very quiet in order to prevent any possible scare. The patient is an American, 26 years of age, and a laborer, having worked last on the Great Northern railroad. He came from Seattle. All his bedding has been burned. Yesterday another well-developed case was discovered in the Halstead house. It was also reported that still another case had been found in the Hoffman house. There was new cases to-day. Those of yesterday are under strict quarantine and will have to remain so 14 days. The city board of health met this morning and decided upon strict measures for the prevention of the spread of contagion.

Smallpox in Seattle.

No new cases of smallpox were discovered in Seattle yesterday. Officers are examining all boats and trains from the north and vaccinating all who cannot show a good scar. But little opposition is made to the officers. Most of the passengers are quite willing to submit to the operation, thus saving $1. Thirty-five men are quarantined at the Laborers' home, on Yesler avenue. Two managed to escape.

SCOTCH HOME RULE.

What is Being Done by the Various Land Leagues.

New York Sun.]

In the intensity of Ireland's struggles for home rule and Irishmen's efforts to possess their native land the fact that Scotchmen, too, are with equal earnestness, but perhaps less demonstrative enthusiasm, engaged in a similar crusade, is apt to be pretty generally overlooked, except when some especially significant turn of affairs brings it up for the moment. Scotland wants home rule and Scotchmen are working for it and have been for a number of years, and never more earnestly than now.

We'll have the land that bore us,
As our fathers had before us,

A motto which a traveler saw a few weeks ago worked out in evergreens across the wall of a country school in Sutherlandshire. Mottoes of similar patriotic import are to be found in very many of the Scotch schools, and its spirit is cultivated in the children by every possible means—by the singing of patriotic songs, the relation of the stories of patriotism and the proper presentation of current facts. The movement is for local self-government and the possession of the land, the abolition of absentee landlordism and reclamation of the land that has been formed into deer forests and shooting preserves for English sportsmen. There are a number of organizations formed to attain these ends. There is the Highland Land League, which held its tenth annual conference a short time ago; the Scottish Land Restoration Club, the Scottish Land Restoration Federation, the Fabian Society and others of smaller note. The Land League protested strongly at its recent conference against the "attempt to cajole them out of the country by treasury funds," in assisting the emigration of Scotchmen to the colonies. A telegram was received at the meeting of the conference from Victoria, New South Wales, saying, "Don't emigrate out here." The leaguers agreed that they certainly would not. The members expressed "unswerving allegiance" to the league, and affirmed that no settlement of the land question in the Highlands could be accepted as final which did not "recognize and fully embody the rights of the Highland people to their native soil." The league agreed that with a fair distribution of pastoral and arable land there would be land enough for double the population of the Highlands. Many radical resolutions were adopted, and the steadfastness of the leaguers is only one of the evidences of the earnestness of Scotchmen for home rule and for Scotch homes for the Scotch people.

A New Storage Battery.

A successful trial of a new storage battery for street car propulsion was made recently on a car of the Ninth avenue surface line. The run was from the stables of the line on Fifty-fourth street to One Hundred and Sixteenth and return, and was satisfactory in every respect to the members of the party which made the trip. The new motor is the property of the Acme Storage Battery Company. Its distinctive feature is the plate or "gird" which sustains in place the active material holding the current. According to the statements of the company this plate is made of a composite material which is an absolute non-conductor, impervious to acid, and therefore practically indestructible. In all previous batteries the support plate has been made of lead, which yielded rapidly to the corrosive action of the acid solution and been quickly destroyed, rendering the motor useless. The inventor claims that a car can be run with the new motor for 8 or 9 cents a mile, or about the same as a horsecar. There are 114 cells, each weighing twenty-seven pounds, in each car, and the cost of a fully equipped car is about $4500. The battery can be charged to furnish power for a run of twenty-four miles, and a speed of twenty miles an hour is attainable. The party noticed with pleasure that there was an entire absence of jolting when the car started or stopped.—Electricity.

When stomach and liver are all out of gear,
When you're stupid at morn and feverish at night,
And nothing gives relish and nothing goes right,
Don't try any nostrum, elixir, or pill,—
"Golden Medical Discovery" just fills the bill.

The surest and best of all remedies for all disorders of the liver, stomach and blood, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

LORD MAYOR'S DAY.

The Procession From the Guildhall to the Law Courts—A Great Show.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Pomp, ceremony, and scenes of unusual splendor marked to-day the inauguration as Lord Mayor of London of the first member of the Roman Catholic denomination to be chosen to that high office since the reign of the bloody Queen Mary. Despite the efforts of the "no popery" element, and which after failing to compass the defeat of Mr. Stuart Knill in the Court of Aldermen, had endeavored to organize an hostile demonstration on the occasion of his passage through the streets to-day "the Lord Mayor's show" was accorded an enthusiastic reception. Elaborate precautions had been taken by the police department to suppress any disturbance in its incipiency, and scores of detectives mixed with the crowds in every block, but they were not required to exercise their authority, for the few hoots and groans of "no popery" that were heard here and there were drowned in the roar of applause which swept like a prairie from Guildhall to the Law Courts. The procession was the most gorgeous affair of recent years, and contained many new and striking features. In addition to the "beef eaters," firemen, foresters, life-boat men, keepers of Epping Forest, and the many other time-honored accessories of the occasion, about every adherent of the Roman Catholic faith seemed to have turned out in honor of Lord Mayor Knill, and the scenes of enthusiasm that greeted his appearance at numerous points along the route have never been exceeded in London's streets. The pageant left Guildhall at 10 o'clock and proceeded via Gresham street, Mooregate and Queen Victoria street, Upper Thames street, Cannon street, St. Paul's churchyard, Ludgate Hill and Fleet street to the new law buildings, where Lord Mayor Knill was formally received by the Lord Chancellor. From the courts the procession moved along the Strand, Charing Cross, Northumberland avenue and the Victoria Embankment back to Guildhall. This afternoon the annual Lord Mayor's banquet is in progress in the big banquetting hall of this historic structure. Contrary to a practice which has prevailed for over 100 years the premier is absent from the festive board, and no declaration of the proposed policy of his government can be officially made.

The Restored Parliament Hall.

The Princess Louise has opened in Edinburgh the restored Parliament hall at the castle. The hall has been restored by the munificence of the late Mr. William Nelson. This interesting building, which for many years was used as a military hospital, has, under the skillful hands of Mr. Blanc, been restored to even more than its pristine splendor. Its open timber roof has been renewed, and with its oak-lined walls, stained glass window with heraldic emblems, carved screen and old baronial fire-place, the hall will add a new feature of interest to visitors to the Castle. Unfortunately, the generous donor of the funds whereby this transformation was effected on the old Parliament hall did not live to see his work completed, and there has been unaccountable if unavoidable delay in making the hall available on the public. In the interval a scheme was set on foot to further decorate the hall by utilizing the upper spaces of the walls for the purpose of displaying upon them ancient armor and weapons of warfare. To Major-General Lyttelton-Annesley, commanding the forces in North Britain, belongs the credit of having initiated and largely carried into effect this idea. The trustees of Mr. Nelson did not see their way to proceed further than to finish the work concerning which Mr. Nelson had left positive instructions; and, accordingly, General Lyttelton-Annesly charged himself with the duty of raising funds to defray the cost of the mural decoration of the hall with armor.

PATAGONIAN BABIES.

The Curative Progress They Undergo When a Doctor is Called.

When a little Patagonian is taken with any of the long catalogue of infantile diseases, which are equally as rampant in the wilds of the Antipodes as they are among the embryo Presidents and millionaires of the United States, a "devil exterminator" is sent for post-haste, says the Chicago News.

That individual, although his title is not exactly euphonic to our cultured ears, compares very favorably with the "M.D.'s" of civilized countries, both as to the wise look he puts on when making an examination of a patient and the fees exacted when the devil has been put to flight.

The dispensatory of Patagonia knows but two remedies for the diseases of children, animal skins and common yellow clay, both to be used at the same time, whether the disease be in the head or feet of the little sufferer.

On being called to see a sick child the Patagonian doctor takes with him a tight skin bag opened at the larger end. Clay is plentiful everywhere. While some members of the family makes a thick batter of this yellow earth the medicine man sits staring at the sick child or else shakes a painted rattle in an idiotic fashion before the little one's face.

When the plaster of clay is ready the child is smeared from head to foot with it and then slipped feet first into the bag before mentioned. Should the child cease crying before this proceeding has been carried out it is thought to be a bad sign, an omen that the devil is still lurking in the child, but is keeping quiet for fear of punishment.

On the other hand, should the child become calm just as he is being "bagged" the parents and the medicine man think that the "Prince of Darkness" has left the body of the child in order to escape imprisonment. In the event of the last-named contingencies arising the sun-bag is immediately closed and tied. The "doctor" then opens another bag and throws three pebbles and some serpent's teeth into it. These are well shaken for a moment, the idea being to get the devil to jump into the bag after the charm, whereupon it is instantly closed, tied and sunk in the nearest body of water.

After this curious rite has been carried out to the letter the bag in which the clay-besmeared child has been deposited may be opened.

If the little savage hasn't already been smothered to death by being confined in the bag during the incantations of the medicine man it is thoroughly washed and wrapped in a clean, warm skin, the head of a "muley" white bull, killed in the new of the moon, being preferable. Strange as it may seem, this treatment usually cures, the water being a prime factor in restoring health, no doubt.

Should death ensue the doctor tells the bereaved parents that two devils were after the child and that all the medical science in the world is not equal to the task of coping with two of the imps of the infernal regions.

TALES OF STRENGTH.

Giant Canarians Who Could Kill Bulls With Their Fists.

National Review.

After the Spanish occupation of the Grand Canary a certain enormous stone was for a long time pointed out as one of the instruments of the Gaunche athletic courses. The natives had been able to lift it, set it on their shoulders, and even throw it over their heads. Their degenerate posterity and the Spaniards could not raise it from the ground. Tradition has immortalized one Adargoma of Grand Canary, who could wrestle for two consecutive hours and having been thrown uppermost in a certain contest got his antogonist between his legs and arms and squeezed him so that his bones began to crack. The native was subsequently sent as a prisoner to Spain, where he astounded the people by his performances. One day in Seville he was visited by a brawny youth of La Mancha, who was anxious to try a bout with him.

"My good friend," said Adargoma, "as we are going to wrestle together it is only reasonable that we should begin by drinking something."

A large bowl of wine having been brought, he took this in one hand and and continued to address his challenger:

"If with both your arms you can overpower one of mine, so as to hinder me from drinking every drop of this wine, we will try our strength together. If not, you may return to your home."

The struggle took place, and Adargoma, by degrees, drained the bowl in the coolest manner without spilling a drop of the wine. His one hand was more than a match for the two.

It was reckoned nothing out of the common for a man to take an untethered ox by the horn with one hand and slay it with the other. A certain native born priest of Grand Canary in the seventeenth century showed that he inherited some of his ancestors' vigor, for one day, hearing that an enraged bull had broken loose and was in the street, he ran out, and, grasping it by the leg, threw it down and so held it until its owner was able to secure it. This doughty son of the church before his death chanced to have one of his legs amputated for a cancer. It was then found that his thigh bone was solid, with no trace of marrow. It must be confessed, however, that the relics of the Canarians now found in their burying places do no bear out the inference that this was a national characteristic, though their dimensions are certainly a testimony of the strength and size of their late proprietors.

The delicious fragrance, refreshing coolness and soft beauty imparted to the skin by Pozzoni's Powder, commends it to all ladies.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Bazaar.

The sale of work by the ladies of St. Paul's Presbyterian church last night was a success. The articles offered for sale did great credit to the ladies who made them. The attendance was good and the music very fine. Misses Semple, McKenzie, Jones, Downer and Russell presided over the refreshment table. The flower stand was unique and pretty. Misses Guthrow, Stamford, Woodall and Tagge were in attendance. The fancy stall was under the direction of Misses A. Semple and Turpel. Miss Gibson and Miss Grace Campbell sold choice candy, and Mrs. R. Semple, Mrs. Dodds and Mrs. McNiven disposed of plain work. A snug little sum was realized for the building fund.

After Twenty Years.

It will be interesting to old British Columbians to know that the affairs of the old Odd Fellows' Bank of San Francisco, which failed in 1878, are being straightened out, after nearly twenty years. The bank in question failed almost simultaneously with the Masonic and French banks of San Francisco. The three failures were all due to a great shrinkage in land values. The depositors of the Odd Fellows' bank are being paid in full.

Civil Service Examinations.

The civil service examinations are at present in progress. The candidates are: T. C. Allcock, J. Ball, E. G. Brown, Mary E. Dinsmore, Florence Gladding, A. Maiposs, G. Millette, D. McRae, H. Norman, Thomas Pierson, C. C. Ralston, R. W. Shaw, F. Smith; Una M. Stitt, J. Taylor, J. Tawance, T. Tubbs, C. Freeman, E. Miller, G. Canning, A. Oliver, C. E. Ray and J. W. Stewart.

Police Court.

Isaac Roberts appeared for the tenth time this morning in the police court. Roberts was convicted of being drunk and disorderly. The sentence was $50 fine or two months in jail. Jimmy, Indian, was taxed $20 for having whiskey in his possession. John Smith, vagrant, promised to turn over a fresh leaf and was dismissed. WushamSydney, drunk, was discharged.

For a Laudable Object.

The tickets being printed for the performances to be given on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Victoria by Messrs. Marmaduke Wood and J. Coburn Thompson, are quite a joke in themselves. They announce that the performance is for the benefit of Tragedian Marmie's creditors.

To Urge an Important Expenditure.

The unemployed of Victoria will attend this evening's session of the City Council in a body. They think that the corporation should forthwith expend the $25,000 voted for street improvements. Their attendance at the council session is to urge on matters.

Imperial Federation.

George R. Parkin will speak in Sir William Wallace Hall this evening on Imperial Federation. Several local believers in the idea will also give their opinions. Mr. R. E Gosnell, of Vancouver, a well known speaker, will probably give a short address.

A Pleasant Time Spent.

The Thanksgiving dinner last night by the James Bay Methodist Church was largely attended. The edibles were of the best. A good sum was realized.

THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

The latest returns make it certain that the Democrats have carried the Presidency and secured a majority in the next House of Representatives. These were the two important bones of contention, so Cleveland and his supporters have assuredly won a very substantial victory. But it is by no means certain that the Democrats have captured enough of the state legislatures to give them control of the Senate, wherefore they may be unable to give effect to their platform by legislation, just as they were in the Congress of 1884. In the matter of tariff reform, the history of the Mills Bill may be repeated. There are 29 senators now to retire, of whom 18 are Republicans and 11 Democrats, and whether enough of the 18 seats are to be captured to give a Democratic majority cannot be determined from the returns so far received. It is quite possible that the People's Party may secure the balance of power in the Senate through the state legislatures, in which event tariff reform would be a certainty. There would also be a probability of tinkering with the currency. It is to be hoped, however, that the Democrats will be able to complete their victory by securing a majority in the Senate, so that they may be able to carry out their policy unhampered.

THE EVICTED TENANTS.

From the cable report it appears that the commission appointed to enquire into the situation of the evicted tenants in Ireland is not at all pleasing to the landlords. At the opening session the president, Justice Mathew, stated that he had received a letter from the Marquis of Clanricarde, dubbing the commission "a plan of campaign," and declining to attend as a witness for the purpose of making suggestions for an attack upon his class. While one of the witnesses was testifying Mr. Carson, counsel for the landlords, asked to be allowed to at once cross-examine. Justice Mathew refused, saying that when the witnesses for both sides had been heard counsel would be allowed to cross-examine them through a commissioner. Carson thereupon declared the whole thing a farce, and said that he would not prostitute his position by longer remaining before the commission. Justice Mathew said Carson's actions were disgraceful. Other counsel present as representatives of the landlords concurred in the remarks of Carson and withdrew from the room. The landlords, being thus unrepresented, Justice Mathew adjourned the commission. All this means, of course, that the landlords, not being allowed their own way, are bent on blocking the work of the commission as far as the can. The purpose and scope of the commission are set forth in the proclamation appointing it, from which it appears that it is to report to the Government on the following matters:—

1. The number of tenants on estates who have been evicted from their holdings since the 1st day of May, 1879, the extent and annual rent of each such holding, with such particulars of the evictions as you may deem necessary.
2. The number of such holdings relet to other tenants or sold by the owners of such estates, the new rent or purchase money of each holding, the rent paid by the former tenants, and such other circumstances connected with the substituted tenants or purchasers as you may deem expedient.
3. The number of tenants reinstated on such estates, the names of the estates and the terms upon which the reinstatement took place.
4. Any proposals for settlement which have been made, or which may be made, by landlord or tenant with a view to reinstatement.
5. The cost, as far as can be ascertained, of the evictions to the Exchequer, and the cost, as far as can be ascertained, to the Exchequer and to the local rates of any proceedings consequent upon evictions, and such other facts and circumstances connected therewith as you may deem expedient.
6. What means should be adopted to bring about settlements and the reinstatement of the evicted tenants, and thereby to give effect to the policy of the late Parliament indicated by section 13 of the Purchase of Land Ireland Act, 1891.

The president of the commission is Sir James Charles Mathew, a judge of the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice, and his associates are Mr. Christopher T. Redington, Mr. John Roche, Q.C., Mr. Edmund Murphy and Mr. Morrough O'Brien, the latter being related to the famous Smith O'Brien.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

According to its own report, the corporation that leases the gambling privilege at Monte Carlo has this year taken in a revenue of $4,000,000, or $1,000,000 more than last year's receipts. Out of this it pays $1,000,000 to the Prince of Monaco for its privilege, so it has something left for itself. What a very large number of fools must visit Monte Carlo every year.

The following paragraph from Truth may happen to be of use some time to some of our readers, should they ever have the misfortune to be brought within range of the cholera:—"I am told by a pharmaceutical chemist that a mixture of five grains of quinine and fifteen drops of dilute sulphuric acid in a wine-glass of water has been found in India to act as an excellent preventive of cholera. A medical officer who has given it regularly has had no cholera among the men under his care, though it has been rife among the camp-followers, for whom he was not responsible. For use in England my informant recommends smaller doses of the drugs—say two grains of the quinine and ten drops of dilute sulphuric acid to the wine-glass of water, the dose to be taken daily."

One feature of the election campaign in San Francisco was the eagerness of certain saloon-keepers to have the polling booths located near their places of business. We read, for instance, of one Mr. Curley having, by artful manœuvering, succeeded in securing the location of a booth in such a way that the thirsty voters would be likely to patronize his beer. In the middle of the night, however, a rival named Albin organized a choice gang of supporters who picked the booth up and carted it to within easy reach of Mr. Albin's place. The police seem to have cold-heartedly interfered with Mr. Albin's scheme. It would seem advisable for our American cousins, who are following Canada's example in the use of the ballot, to imitate us still further and close up the grog shops on election day.

The Italian elections have resulted in sustaining by a very substantial majority the Giolitti Ministry, which was expected by its opponents to go to pieces in a very short time. Latest reports show that the Government will be supported by about three to one in the new parliament. There seems no immediate prospect of any decided change in the Italian policy. The Triple Alliance is still to be preserved and the country will for a time at least keep up its heavy expenditure on army and navy. The burden is an enormous one for the taxpayers, but evidently it has not reached such crushing proportions as to make them revolt. It may do so, however, at an earlier date than the late elections would seem to indicate.

The Shylocks are not yet all dead, and the British metropolis seems to have its share of them. Mr. Labouchere frequently finds occasion to make war on some member of the money-lending class who takes advantage of the necessities of the poor, but he has not exposed any worse than one Alex. Louis, trading as "G. Talbot," with whom the London School Board lately had to deal. This man attached the salaries of two teachers and a clerk in the service of the board, and this statement was made by one of the teachers:—

August, 1886, I borrowed £5 (only) of a Mr. Louis, of Finsbury pavement, who advertised to lend money on "note of hand." For this said £5 I signed a bill at a month for £6. Not meeting it at the end of the month, I paid him £1 for renewal of the bill. This payment of £1 I repeated every month until January, 1889, or 28 months (with two exceptions), when he increased the bill to £8, but reduced the monthly interest to 15s., which I paid regularly until December, 1890. I then offered and begged him to accept payment of the £8 by equal monthly instalments. He refused to do so, and I was advised to decline farther payments. Subsequently he pressed me for payment, offering to accept a new bill for amount above and interest which I was unable to meet. Hence his attachment of my salary.

The teacher thus paid £44 in return for a loan of £5, and was still in debt to the Shylock to the amount of £18 16s. 2d., including costs and interest. This seems to be rightly called "money lending extraordinary," and the board would appear to have acted promptly when it passed a resolution refusing to notice the claims of the usurer. The English law must be in a bad state when it affords protection instead of awarding punishment to blood-suckers of this kind.

MINERAL WEALTH.

Extraordinary Natural Riches Tributary to Nanaimo City.

TEXADA ISLAND, Nov. 9.—Considerable interest has been shown of late in this direction. The bonding of the enormous iron ore deposits at Texada has at last proved the intrinsic value of those ores to our cousins across the line, notwithstanding the praises that have been showered upon the Western States iron supplies. This fact, following so closely upon the bonding of other mineral properties in conjunction therewith has shown to British Columbians how slow we as a people are to take advantage of the natural wealth of our precincts.

The American company that has bonded the Texada Gold and Silver Mining Company and several other owners of claims up at Texada Island have got E. Priest, C.E., at work up there along with their expert, making out preliminary plans of work. It is expected that at an early date a full force of men will be employed to open up the above properties, and another valuable adjunct to British Columbia's wealth distributions permanently added thereto.

The bonded property on Texada Island represents some very large sums of money, and as per the terms of those bonds, bona fide work must begin not later than January 1st next. It is only reasonable to expect that a good number of men will be employed on that date. A large number of those interested are expected shortly to pay a personal visit to the island and look over the properties, and approve of the preliminary plans of future development. A steamer will leave Nanaimo with the party and they will have ample time to examine all claims bonded before their return.

It superior facilities for ready shipments of mineral are highly in its favor from a financial standpoint.

Nanaimo now commands in herself and adjacent vicinity, iron ore, copper ore, galena, gold, lead, fire clay, potters' clay, terra cotta clay, sandstone of the finest quality, granites, marbles with as many hues as the rainbow; limestones of the finest kind, coal that cannot be equalled on the Pacific coast, and inexhaustible forests of timber, all at her door, and the day should not be far distant when there will be here smelting works, marble and stone works, iron foundries, and extensive fire brick manufacturies, and mammoth potteries to supply local and foreign markets with millions of dollars worth of manufactured ware annually. Seeing that she has the great and important factor at hand, coal, for her smithy works, foundries and manufactories the concomitants of civilized tastes and requirements, certainly no town on the northwest coast of this continent has had the horn of plenty of nature so liberally poured in her lap as the Black Diamond city.

The late heavy finds of fine nickel ore near here have permanently secured its title to a place in the mining world. Veins of fine nickel ore have been discovered quite lately, from 8 feet to 60 feet wide, and when the ore is mixed with samples from the famous Sudbury nickel mines, experts cannot select the same from our mines. Will British Columbia allow these deposits to seek a market in foreign lands or not remains to be seen in the near future, but the end is not yet. More startling finds will ere long cast their radiance on that world of mining industries—in embryo—such as will surprise our most enthusiastic mining men. KUMTUX.

THE DAMAGED PREMIER.

The Wonder is That She Could Have Floated With the Injuries She Has.

Hundreds of people visited the steamer Premier to day to see what damage the massive prow of the Willamette had done. They were all astonished to see the vast gaping rent in the vessel's port bow, just at the foremast. The Premier was cut from a point in the centre of her hurricane deck down to the kelson, the Willamette striking her obliquely, the blow coming from forward of the foremast, and stopping just at the after partition of the smoking room. The iron plates of which the steamer is constructed are shrivelled up like so much wrapping paper, and the wooden fixtures have been simply churned into the tortuous masses of angle and sheet iron.

Each port section of deck has been sheared away as with a knife, and far below the surface of the water one can dimly see the yawning rent in the bilge plates. The end of the railing in the smoking saloon on which the two men were instantly killed, remains to show the exact spot where the Willamette's bow stopped.

Row boats can easily enter the huge rip in the side and row around in the hold. The watertight bulkheads, the thin division between the Premier floating and the Premier going to the bottom, were examined with much curiosity by the visitors.

Steam was up in the boilers and various pieces of work, chiefly cleaning the decks of the debris, were being actively done. The upper deck is supported by temporary wooden pillars, resting on an enormous beam securely bound in place by strong chains across the gap, fore and aft.

The amazing thing to everybody is that the vessel ever floated, and that she ever made the trip across the straits. It was certainly a daring feat of seamanship to attempt the passage of the straits, even in the calmest weather, with the steamer in such a condition. The Premier is considerably down by the head, as might be expected from the great body of water between the first and second collision bulkheads. The vessel will most probably go upon the ways in the inner harbor, as H.M.S. Warspite does not leave the dry dock until the 18th inst. It is understood that work upon the repairs will be prosecuted with the utmost vigor.

Captains Struve and O'Brien, who had the contract for raising the Premier, to-day handed her over to the C P N. Company.

The report brought over by the passengers on the City of Kingston on Monday about the raising of the wreck, Captain Struve says, was not correct. The Grant Bros.' time for raising her had expired, but was extended, and at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning they raised her.

A Case for the Police.

The attention of the police department is called to the congregation of idlers who hang around outside the entrance to the Victoria theatre every night on which there is a play. These loafers are not only an obstruction to all wishing to pass up and down the sidewalk and to persons entering the theatre, but seem to take a particular delight in insulting ladies and their escorts. They flatly refuse to give way when foot passengers approach, compelling the latter to either leave the sidewalk or wait until the rowdies choose to let them pass. The nuisance has lately become intolerable, and calls loudly for police interference.

For the South.

The steamer Walla Walla, Captain Wallace, sailed for San Francisco this morning with the following cabin passengers from this port: Miss McNamara, D. W. Corbin and wife, J. W. Brither, wife and children; F. M. Jargin and wife, Jas. White and W. Martin. She took a small quantity of freight, consisting of hides and liquors.

Lieut.-Governor Dewdney Takes the Oath of Office To-day.

Hon. Edgar Dewdney was installed as lieutenant-governor at noon to-day. The installation took place in the Supreme Court chambers of the court house. The members of the cabinet, the Victoria bar, and representative citizens of Victoria took part in the ceremonies. Exactly at twelve o'clock Chief Justice Begbie, accompanied by Hon. Edgar Dewdney, entered the chamber. "Queen's Counsel" Benjamin Evans stood at the door. He bowed reverently, and cried "order! order!" The Chief Justice bowed to the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, who ascended the judicial throne, and took a seat to the right of the Chief Justice. The Chief Justice wore his usual judicial robes. Hon. Edgar Dewdney was attired in a Prince Albert and striped pantaloons. In his right hand he carried his silk hat. His coat was tightly buttoned and a small pansy bouquet was worn in the buttonhole of the left lapel. Register J. C. Prevost read the appointment of Mr. Dewdney to the Lieut-Governorship. Chief Justice Begbie read the oath of allegiance, which was repeated by Mr. Dewdney. The gist of the oath is the swearing of allegiance to the Queen and the promise to counteract all conspiracies against her crown or person. The oaths of office were then administered. Mr. Dewdney held a Bible in his right hand and at the conclusion of the reading of each oath of office he kissed the book. The oaths are to execute the trusts of the province and duly and impartially administer justice; to see that the acts relating to trade and commerce are duly kept and observed; and to execute the office of the keeper of the seal of British Columbia. Mr. Dewdney signed his name to the oath of allegiance and to each of the oaths of office. Chief Justice Begbie then shook the hand of the new Lieutenant-Governor. The Chief Justice said: "I suppose it is unnecessary to make any speeches."

"No speeches," replied the new governor.

Mr. Dewdney then stepped down and shook hands with the cabinet ministers, the members of the Victoria bar and others of his friends. The whole ceremony did not take upwards of 15 minutes. A carriage was waiting outside the court house, and Mr. Dewdney was driven to Government House.

The following ladies and gentlemen witnessed the ceremony: Mrs. Dewdney, Mrs. James Baker, Mrs. and Miss Pooley, Mrs. Miles, Col. Prior, M. P., Dr. Helmcken, Sr., Superintendent of Indian Affairs Vowell; Messrs. Helmcken and Crease, and the members of the bar in full regalia.

Not an Elevating Play.

There was a large audience at the Victoria last evening to see Miss Jeffreys Lewis in "La Belle Russe," Belasco's erotic conception, which just manages to pass the custom house of respectability, and that is all. It is a play in fact that might safely be relegated to the demi-monde, and it seems to have been written expressly for their delectation. Miss Lewis, it seems, makes a specialty of such characters, and, fortunately or unfortunately, according to the standpoint of morality from which one looks at it, is very successful in delineating passions that respectable people would rather have kept in the background, or, indeed, would rather believe did not exist at all; at least this side of Avernus. The spectacle of a large, fleshy woman lolling on a sofa or sprawling at the feet of a young man, who gives painful evidence that he is a very green junior, is not very edifying. The voluptuous, suggestive attitudes, the double entendre of many of the lines, and still more of the actions of the principal characters, are suitable for only one sphere of life, and it is to be hoped that Victoria playgoers will not again be called to sit patiently and witness such productions and such skilful interpretations of them. True, Miss Lewis showed several times that she is a very fair actress, but it was only to lapse again into the very peculiar style with which she seems to be most familiar. The support, with the exception of Mainhall, who might have been much better, was hopelessly wooden—of the marionette type, with all the strings visible.

Orthodox Greeks.

Rev. Sebastian Daborich, a Greek priest from St. Petersburg, arrived in town yesterday. Father Daberich is touring the Pacific province to gather statistics of the number of orthodox Greeks, to collect the Greeks together and, where possible, to establish Greek churches. It is probable that a Greek church will soon be erected in Portland, Ore. Portland is the centre of the Greek population of the Pacific coast. There are over 400 orthodox Greeks at the metropolis of the Webfooters. Victoria has 65 orthodox; Seattle 50; Tacoma 300 and Nanaimo claims 25 Greek families.

Sad News.

HE FOOLED THE POLICE.

Mr. Wolfe, the Defaulter, Makes His Exit With Dexterity.

M. L. Wolfe and wife registered at the Driard two weeks ago. Wolfe is wanted for embezzlement. A warrant is out against him. Fourteen hundred dollars is the sum and Kean & Co., jewelers, of San Francisco, are the victims. Wolfe was accountant for Kean & Co. It is alleged that there are other counts against him.

Wolfe removed from the Driard to the Wilson a few days ago. The "wife" did not accompany her spouse. Chief Sheppard in the meanwhile had received word from Chief of Police Crowley, of San Francisco, to arrest Wolfe. Mr. Sheppard telegraphed for more information. The information came yesterday and the police made arrangements to catch the Wolfe in his den. Everything was cut and dried, and the officers would only have to put their hands on Mr. Wolfe and walk him off to the "cooler." But the little drama was cruelly marred as the Mr. Wolfe was not within when wanted. The police found the baggage, but the man was not to be found. A rumor was circulated that he had left by the Sound steamer and the police gave up the chase in the small hours this morning.

Kick-off will be at 3 o'clock. The team will leave by the 2:30 car from Yates and Government streets. Owing to the absence of several members, the second 11 will be unable to play the lacrosse team, but an endeavor will be made to have a game Saturday.

THE TURF.

TO CANVASS THE MEMBERS.

The committees appointed by the Victoria and Mount Tolmie Jockey clubs to consider amalgamation met yesterday morning. It was decided to canvass the members of the Victoria club and ascertain how many would be willing to take stock in the new club. Although the site of the Mount Tolmie track is farther from town than the present track, it is held that the gate receipts would be just as large, as the National Electric Tramway Company would soon have a line running out that way.

AN ASTROLOGY FAD.

Edgar Lee has a most curious article in the current Arena on "Astrology Fin de Siecle."

"It will surprise a large majority of the readers of this magazine," said he, "to be told that astrology, as a science, is not only holding its own in England to-day, but has, during the past 10 years, made such strides that it is felt by many that the 'rogues and vagabonds' act, which prevent the casting of horoscopes for gain, will, by this next Parliament, stand a chance of being repealed.

"A large number of regular professional astrologers live in London, and they one and all agree that the science has distinctly become more popular since 1836. Previously to that date they carried on their horoscopical practice in fear and trembling, but there has been no prosecution of an astrologer, qua astrologer, in England for four years now, the last being at Bow street, when 'Neptune,' an intuitive seer, was mulcted in £5 for casting a horoscope, a barrister in court who had never seen or heard of him before springing up to defend him gratuitously on the sole ground that he himself was a believer and practicer of astrology. Six years ago there were no periodicals in England devoted to astrology; there are now three.

"Another thing that has given astrology in England a great fillip is the series of remarkable predictions which have appeared of late years in our astrologic calendars. Mr. Pearce, a very fine mathematician and a careful and conscientious astrologer, is to all intents and purposes 'Zadkiel,' and he certainly predicted to the day and even the hour the compulsory abdication of Prince Alexander of Bulgaria. Again, a year in advaance, he described the revolution in Brazil in the following words 'The Emperor of Brazil is warned to be very careful of dissensions and machination among his subjects at this time,' and the day against which this is put is the day of the outbreak. Similarly, 'Old Moore,' in this year's issue has, by his remarkable prophecy as to the 14th of January, stimulated the curiosity of all believers in the occult. Against that date was printed "The royal family in mourning," and this a'manac is always on sale in the streets of London in the October of the previous year, so that the Duke of Clarence's illness, which did not begin till the 7th of January, could not have influenced the prediction."

The World's Consumption of Coal.

A statistician has lately been engaged in estimating the world's consumption of coal. He divides his figures into four groups, embracing, respectively, the quantity of coal used in heating steam-boilers, in the production of gas, in the extraction of metals from their ores, and for household purposes. It may be taken, he says, that the total steam-engine capacity of the globe is equivalent to 10,000,000 horse-power, and that, having regard to the utilization of other fuels, the quantity of coal burned with the object of producing steam averages 4.4 lbs. per horse-power per hour, or an hourly aggregate of 12,000 tons. In all probability, however, this is an under-estimate as the efficiency of the world's steam-engines is calculated by some to be 20,000,000 horse-power. With respect to the manufacture of gas, the hourly consumption of the illuminating aeriform fluid is given as 5,000,000 cubic metres, which would necessitate the distillation of at least 10,000 tons of coal per hour. More difficult to calculate is the consumption of coal for the production of power and heating gas; it may be estimated, our authority thinks, at 4500 tons per hour. A large quantity of coal is used in the reduction of metal from their ores. It is calculated that in this way some 9000 tons of the mineral are consumed every hour. A special extract gives the quantity burned hourly by works and factories at 5000. The most difficult calculation is that of the domestic consumption of coal. It is estimated at 55,000 tons per hour, or 1,320,000 tons per day of 24 hours. This figure, however, appears rather small concerning that, in Great Britain alone, the daily output of coal in recent years has averaged 600,000 tons; and that the extraction in all other countries may be reckoned as one and a half times this quantity.—Iron.

Kossuth's Dreams.

Kossuth, now 90 years old, exemplifies till the last his heroic impracticability. He was impracticable in the scheme for which 40 years ago he came to this country to seek pecuniary aid. He got a good deal of it, but what became of the money nobody knows except that no advantage accrued to him or to Hungary. He was impracticable when he tried to complicate the United States with Austria through actual interference in European politics, a policy which statesmen of all schools had always deprecated. Notwithstanding his eloquence and magnetism this effort failed and his mission came to an end. Presently wiser, though not more devoted patriots than he, by making friends with the enemy, uniting those with common interest, did better for Hungary than Kossuth could possibly have done, however successful in enforcing his measures, and saved the rights while promoting the dignity of their land. But Kossuth never forgot his dreams of independence. When statesmanship had made itself into history and the old strife was forgotten the solid empire sought to honor his unselfish character, but he would none of it. His latest act of impracticability is to refuse to be present himself or authorize his sons to represent him at the unveiling of a memorial in the church where he was christened. Determined never again to set foot on Hungarian soil he dwells at Turin, declining public aid and supporting himself with his pen. There doubtless he will die, regarded with the sympathetic respect, not free from commiseration, which the sincere and self-sacrificing fanatic always commands.—Brooklyn Eagle.

VACCINATION.

To the Editor:—I was terrified when I read in your paper of last Tuesday those letters on vaccination, for I had my little girl vaccinated by Dr. Davie about three months ago. What horrible things the doctor is charged with having said before the Royal Commission! Do you really believe, Mr. Editor, he could have said them? Well, then, as if to increase my trouble on this point, my husband brought me home the Vancouver News-Advertiser for Thursday last, and asked me to read the evidence given by Dr. Langis, of Vancouver, before the commission in that city. Dr. Langis said he "favored the compulsory vaccination of children." "He preferred bovine lymph. He knew of scrofula being inoculated by arm to arm vaccination." Oh, dear, and then I remembered that Dr. Davie actually vaccinated my little one with vaccine taken from another child's arm! This terribly upset me, but I went on reading Dr. McGuigan's evidence given the same day. He referred to the cases of smallpox he attended at Howe Sound and said: "There were 13 people in the house, counting Hyde, the one down with smallpox. He put the patient in charge of a man named Brooke and then vaccinated all the family—12 persons. This was about the end of April. On May 21, he went up to see that Hyde was properly buried, and again vaccinated all the family. On June 3 he went up to Howe Sound to see those people and found all the family had smallpox except the father. Some of them had very sore arms while they were covered with the marks. Finally the father took the disease. What a terrible tale to tell. Fancy, those 12 people were vaccinated twice in less than two months and yet they all took the smallpox after being vaccinated! No one can imagine my feelings after reading this, for my husband was opposed to having our little pet vaccinated, but now I join hands with him and say, "No more vaccination for me or mine." WELCOMED THEIR PASTOR.

Rev. J. E. Coombes Gets a Cordial Reception From His Flock.

Calvary Baptist church congregation welcomed Rev. J. E. Coombes, their new pastor, at a meeting held last evening. Chairman of the board of deacons, Beckwith, read an address of welcome on behalf of the congregation. Addresses were also read by M. C. Cleveland for the Sunday school; Miss Walker for the Baptist Young People's Union; Mrs. Marchant, for the Ladies' Societies. Speeches of welcome were made by Rev. P. H. McEwen, pastor of Emanuel Baptist church; Rev. Dr. Campbell, Rev. C. Watson, Pandora Avenue Methodist church; Rev. Mr. Winchester, and Rev. J. H. White. Mr. Coombes replied in a neat address.

MUST BE VACCINATED.

The Trustees Decide That All School Children Shall Be Vaccinated.

The school trustees met last evening, Chairman Hayward presiding, and Trustees Lovell, McKay, Saunders and Wade being present.

The board of public instruction wrote stating that the ensuing vacation should commence December 23rd and end on the 5th of January.

On account of the overcrowded state of the Hillside avenue ward school it was resolved to allow the principal to engage a hall for the public examination.

An application from the principals for examination papers was referred to the supply committee.

The monthly return showed a total enrollment of 1894 pupils, average attendance 1696 and average per teacher 54.1.

The following letter from Dr. J. C. Davie to Col. Baker, Minister of Education, was read:

"DEAR SIR:—In view of the facts concerning the Smith family, some children of which family attend the public schools, the circumstances of which were a matter of conversation between us this morning, it is absolutely necessary that every child attending the public schools should be thoroughly protected by vaccination.

"I understand that Dr. Milne is already making an effort in this direction, but has been met by a refusal on the part of the trustees of the schools to further his endeavors.

As Provincial Health Officer I beg leave to point out to you the imperative necessity of the whole of these children being vaccinated, and would urge upon you the advisability of having the matter laid before the board of trustees."

Trustee Lovell did not like this arbitrary way of doing business. It could be seen in the evidence taken before the Royal Commission that several cases of vaccination were worse than smallpox.

Some further discussion as to the treatment of smallpox patients ensued, after which Trustee Saunders moved that health regulation 38 be enforced. It reads, "that no child be eligible for admission to the public schools unless vaccinated, or proven to be insusceptible to vaccination."

Dr. Wade seconded the motion.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The Committee Report on the Interview With Premier Davie.

The council of the B. C. Board of Trade met yesterday morning. A letter was received from the Vancouver Board of Trade, asking the co-operation of the B.C. board in obtaining for the province the trade of the Kootenay country.

The following motion was carried:

"That the communication be received and that the Vancouver Board of Trade be notified that the matter is receiving consideration, action thereon being deferred pending further Government information."

The board acknowledged with thanks the receipt of the Imperial Institutes year book.

"Your committee appointed to see the Attorney-General with the view of obtaining legislation in furtherance of the resolutions passed by the Board of trade re a suggested Act to govern assignments of insolvent debtors, and re a suggested act in regard to fees to witnesses, beg to report that we had an interview with the Attorney-General, who expressed himself as follows:

"Re assignment of insolvent debtors.—Mr. Davie would be prepared to introduce a bill on the lines of the Board's resolution, provided said resolution met the endorsement and co-operation of the Boards of Trade of Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo; and he stated that there was an act obtaining in Ontario which he understood worked well and would meet the case, but which might be amended if considered desirable.

"Re fees to witnesses—Mr. Davie said that any interference with the present scale of fees would entail extra costs to litigants, and while recognizing that occasional hardships did occur they were very exceptional, and on the whole he thought it well not to interfere with existing rates.

"Your committee have received, through the secretary of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, the Manitoba Assignment Act, which, we think, generally covers the views expressed by our board; said report is now submitted to you, and we recommend that it be placed before the Vancouver, Westminster and Nanaimo boards of trade, and if the principle of the said act meet with the approval of the said boards, then the act to be placed with the Attorney General for his consideration."

The report was adopted.

The Postmaster-General sent the following reply to a letter from the board:

"Referring to your communication of the 18th instant, on behalf of the British Columbia Board of Trade, recommending that mails for China and Japan should be made up for despatch by the Northern Pacific Railway Company's steamships, as well as by the steamships of other companies now carrying mails, I am directed to say that the matter will receive careful consideration."

Mr. Weatherwet: "By Jove! but these Melissa Coats ARE the proper thing. You would scarcely believe I had been out all day in this blooming storm; and here I am, quite dry and jolly comfortable, don't you know."

Miss Drencher: "O, yes; I have worn my Melissa for more than a year, in all kinds of weather; and the beauty of it is, there is none of that clammy air-tight feeling about it, nor that horrid smell one gets from other waterproofs."

Mr. W.: "There seem to be several poor imitations of this Melissa Cloth on the market, so one has to be careful, you know, and always look for the Melissa Trade Mark on every garment or piece of cloth."

Things a Woman Can Do.

She can come to a conclusion without the slightest trouble of reasoning on it, and no sane man can do that, opines the London Topical Times.

Six of them can talk at once and get along first rate, and no two men can do that.

She can safely stick fifty pins in her dress while he is getting one under his thum nail.

She is as cool as a cucumber in half a dozen tight dresses and skirts, while a man will sweat, and fume and growl in one loose shirt.

She can talk as sweet as peaches and cream to the woman she hates, while two men would be punching each other's heads before they had exchanged ten words.

She can throw a stone with a curve that would be a fortune to a baseball pitcher.

She can say "no" in such a low voice that it means "yes."

She can sharpen a lead pencil if you give her plenty of time and plenty of pencils.

She can dance all night in a pair of shoes two sizes too small for her, and enjoy every minute of the time.

She can appreciate a kiss from her husband seventy years after the marriage ceremony is performed.

She can go to church and afterward tell you what every woman in the congregation had on, and in some rare instances can give you some faint idea of what the text was.

She can walk half the night with a colicky baby in her arms without once expressing the idea of murdering the infant.

She can do more in a minute than a man can do an hour, and do it better.

She can drive a man crazy in twenty-four hours and then bring him to paradise in two seconds by simply tickling him under the chin, and there does not live that mortal son of Adam's misery who can do it.

A YOUNG LIFE SAVED.

A lady living in Sarnia, Ont., says:—"One night about three weeks ago. I was suddenly awakened by that peculiar sound which indicates croup. I soon discovered that my little boy, aged six years, had a serious attack, and that prompt action was necessary to save my darling's life. I quickly laid hold of a bottle of Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and gave my child a teaspoonful, which seemed to afford immediate relief. Three doses in all sufficed to banish the terrible trouble, and gave free and natural respiration. I am now firmly convinced that Harvard Bronchial Syrup is the finest remedy in the world for croup; and have much pleasure in recommending it to every mother in Canada."

Scores of mothers have sent in similar testimony in favor of Harvard Bronchial Syrup. This grand preparation has never failed in the work of curing violent coughs, sore throat and croup. All children like it, and take it regularly. Procure a bottle at once, mother; you cannot spend twenty-five cents with greater advantage or profit.

Belgian Universal Suffragists.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 9.—There was a great demonstration by the advocates of universal suffrage to-day on the occasion of the opening of the Chambers by King Leopold. The city has seldom witnessed a more imposing or resolute exhibition of the popular will, and it evidently impressed both the King and the members of Parliament. The crowd overflowed the streets all along the royal route from the palace to the Chambers both on the King's departure and on his return. As King Leopold was on the route a Socialist threw a number of red socialistic papers right into the face of his Majesty, greatly frightening the royal horses. The horses did not run away, however. The man who threw the papers was arrested. Other arrests were also made of disorderly persons, but the demonstration as a rule was orderly. In his speech from the throne King Leopold insisted on the necessity of revising the constitution and also of improving the condition of the laboring classes. The ministerial party shouted at the close "Vive le Roi," and the members of the left responded, "Vive la suffrage." Meetings in favor of universal suffrage are being held to-night.

DELANEY AND CO. ARRESTED.

A Quartette of Port Townsend Democrats Placed Behind the Bars.

The steamer Walla Walla, which arrived from the Sound this morning, brought news that William Payne, Democratic candidate for representative; Thomas R. Delaney, now chief of police and candidate for sheriff; F. P. Loftus, who is a brother-in-law of J. F. Sheehan, candidate for county assessor, and Max Levy, proprietor of the Olympic hotel, were arrested yesterday and placed behind the bars on a charge of conspiracy and bribery. The arrests result from tampering with voters and false reports sent out this morning by Democratic managers.

It is generally conceded on the Sound that McGraw is elected governor.

A New Oil Field in Sumatra.

An exchange summarizes a recent report by the British Colonial Secretary at Singapore on the kerosene trade of the colony, in which an account is given of a new oil field, for some time known, but only recently become productive, in the northern part of the island of Sumatra, in the State of Langkat, with a seaboard on the Straits of Malacca. It appears that "concessions have been granted by the Dutch Government to both Dutch and English capitalists, but so far a Dutch company is the only one which has got to work, and after a commencement within the last twelve months, it is now reported to be producing from 15,000 to 20,000 cases per month, with a steadily increasing output. Altogether concessions have been granted for some 420 square miles of what has been pronounced by experts to be a very rich oil producing territory. When it is borne in mind that the Russian output in 1891 was 34,000,000 barrels, the bulk of which was obtained from an area of about seven square miles of the oil field near Baku, the capabilities of the new oil field in Sumatra may be judged, assuming that it fulfills the expectations of those who have examined it."
